Conversation 4

Imagine you received a toy robot for your birthday. As you go to sleep that night, you hear funny noises coming from the robot. When you look at him closer, he startles you by saying, "Hello Thomas, how are you?"

You realise your robot has come to life!

Write the conversation you have with the robot. Remember to begin a new paragraph every time you change speaker. You also need to include who is talking, every time they talk and how they say something.
